Canadian Financial Planning Guide

Ross University School of Medicine (RUSM) is dedicated to ensuring our Canadian students are aware of all their financial options. These options include:

- Federal Student Aid Program
- Provincial Student Aid Program

Canada Student Loans Program (CSLP)

RUSM is approved by the Canadian Ministry of Education, providing most students the ability to receive Canadian Federal loans, Provincial loans and Federal grants. Information regarding this program is also available below:

- ▶ canada.ca/en/employment-social-development/services/education/student-loan/eligibility.html

RUSM's school code is ZPAQ

The CSLP offers up to 52 weeks annually in interest-subsidized loans, grants, and repayment assistance to full-time and part-time post-secondary education students who maintain satisfactory academic progress as determined by the individual province. You must re-apply for a Canada Student Loan every school year.

Please see the additional information within this guide for details by province.

If you are a permanent resident of Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick, or Newfoundland and Labrador:

- Complete one application and submit it to your province of permanent residence.
- You are assessed for both federal and provincial student loans and grants.
- You may be eligible to receive one loan: a combination of federal and provincial student loans.
- You manage and repay your student loan through the National Student Loans Service Centre (NSLSC):

Ontario

Federal funding can be up to $300 (CAD) per week. Awards are based on actual number of weeks of instructional time. Provincial funding eligibility varies depending on education expenses, course loan, and personal financial situation. You will receive your funds after all your documents are submitted and verified, and RUSM has confirmed your enrollment. Your enrollment can be verified up to 2 weeks before your study period starts. You must reach out to RUSM's Registrar to request that your enrollment be verified. Your funds are typically issued in two installments: when you start your study period and halfway through your studies.

Once on the website, go to the Education & Training section, then scroll until you see the Student aid section.

British Columbia

You can receive up to $320 per week without dependent children or up to $510 with dependent children for a maximum of 400 weeks of enrollment and a maximum amount of $50,000 (CAD). After you've completed your application, you will receive a Notification of Assessment that will tell if you are eligible, how much you are eligible for, when you can expect to receive the funding, and your 10-digit Master Student Financial Assistance Agreement (MSFAA) number. In order to receive your funding, your enrollment must be confirmed. If you have provided a valid e-mail address, you will receive an e-mail asking you to access your account on the StudentAid BC website dashboard, to download a copy of your confirmation of enrollment form about a month before you are eligible to receive the student loan funds. You should send this to the RUSM's Registrar's office so your enrollment can be confirmed and sent back to British Columbia Student Financial Aid. After your MSFAA has been processed and your enrollment has been confirmed, your funds will be deposited electronically into the bank account you have specified. The deposit usually occurs within seven business days of the confirmation of the enrollment date.

Saskatchewan

Federal funding is available for up to $210 (CAD) per week. Awards are based on actual number of weeks of instructional time. You will receive your funds after all your documents are submitted and verified, and your school has confirmed your enrollment. You must reach out to RUSM's Registrar to request that your enrollment be verified. Funding typically is issued to you within 7–10 business days after enrollment is confirmed. Your assessment letter outlines the dates your financial assistance will be transferred. The Saskatchewan portion of your Canada-Saskatchewan Integrated Student Loan will be paid in monthly instalments throughout your study period. You will not receive a monthly payment in your last month if your program ends before the 15th of the month. Take this into account when planning your budget.

If you are permanent resident of Alberta, Manitoba, Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island the Government of Canada and the provincial governments work together to provide financial assistance through Integrated Student Loans and Grants

- Complete one application and submit it to your province of permanent residence.
- You are assessed for both federal and provincial student loans and grants.
- You may be eligible to receive two loans: one from the Government of Canada and the other from your provincial government.
- You manage and repay your loans through two loan providers: the NSLSC website for your Canada Student Loan, and your provincial government's student financial assistance office or their service provider for your provincial loan.

Alberta

In order to use funds at RUSM, you must first submit a "Request Designation Review Form." Review takes 1-3 weeks and you will be notified by mail if the RUSM has been added.

You can receive up to $17,000 (CAD) per term with a lifetime limit of $200,000 (CAD). The earliest student loans can be sent to you is approximately 1 week before classes begin. Once your application is processed, an award letter will be sent to you that outlines if you are eligible, how much you are eligible for, and when you can expect to receive the funding. You will receive the funding if you have completed your loan agreement, your enrollment has been confirmed by RUSM, and you are within 1 week of starting school. Before any funding can be sent to you, you must take the confirmation of registration documents necessary to the RUSM's Registrar who can complete confirmation of your enrollment and send the paperwork to Alberta Student Financial Assistance for you. Most students receive their student loans on or very close to their period of study start date.
